CONNELLSVILLE PA FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 3 1904

PRICE, ONE CENT

DISMISSED THE CASES

W. C. T. U. Lost Their First Brush Against Store-keepers

FOR THEIR SUNDAY VIOLATION.

Cases Were Dismissed This Afternoon by Squire Dawson at Uniontown Because Informations Had Been Duplicated From Squire Morgan

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock all the cases were dismissed by Squire Dawson at Uniontown. The attorney for the defense showed by transcript that the informations had been duplicated from Squire Morgan's office in New Haven. The only exception was the case against William Forer and Harry Withers in F. E. Markill's store and the prosecution admitted their error in this prosecution so it was also dismissed. The writer of the costs had not been settled at 3 o'clock. However they cannot be placed on the defendants. The hearing instead of a fine was a fine Connellsville people we present.

All but eight of the information made last Monday by O. A. Bell against Sabine breakers in Connellsville and New Haven were withdrawn as Squire Morgan's office has also withdrawn. Last Friday, however, for the alleged Sabine breakers paid the costs in the withdrawal case after pleading guilty to his clients.

In the eight cases which were not settled by Squire Morgan, the fines imposed were $4.00 in each instance to which $1.50 costs were added. The law says that the Board did not bring him in to make up the difference so the costs were not paid.

However transcripts of the informations were taken for use at the hearings before Squire J. N. Dawson at Uniontown this afternoon.

Squire Morgan still holds the fines imposed. The fines were $4.00 in each instance to which $1.50 costs were added. The law says that the Board did not bring him in to make up the difference so the costs were not paid. However transcripts of the informations were taken for use at the hearings before Squire J. N. During the past month many of the inmates have left the institution for the summer. Some have come among friends while others started out expecting to find a home somewhere. In some, however, the inmates and where the court at least do enough work to pay them off during the summer months. Stewart Miller does a good job in plants of this kind. On the contrary he is rather inclined to encourage any who wish to leave the prison to do so. He prefers to let them go instead of remaining a longer time than necessary.

The writer of the costs had not yet been made. Squire Morgan said this morning that he would take advice on the matter before he handed back half the fines. He said that he wants to proceed carefully according to law and to do his whole duty.

Thursday evening Mrs. Brown made another call on Squire Morgan. She came on a peaceful mission this time asking the advice of the Squire on the issues at stake. The Squire advised her to consult the paid attorney for the W. C. T. U. but she insisted upon asking Judge Morgan what he thought on the outcome of the clash at Uniontown this afternoon. It would be without money and without price. I will give you my advice said the Squire. I think you will be worsted because the law plainly says that he first informed has the prior right to hearing, and that is all it is legal. After a few more friendly remarks Mrs. Brown departed.

CLARK-HUGUS NUPTIALS

Invitations Issued for Charming Church Wedding June 15

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Mr. Claude Hugus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hugus of North Pittsburg street and Dr. Edward P. Clark, a well known physician of town. The wedding will be solemnized in the Methodist Episcopal Church on Thursday, June 15, at 3 o'clock P. M. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. H. J. McMurrin, an elder of the bride and pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Uniontown, assisted by Dr. Mark V. Biggs, pastor of the Connellsville M. E. Church. After the ceremony will be the reception at the Hugus home, 100 Main Street. The returning members are C. L. Collins of Uniontown and George Graham of Leesburg. The new members are Eddie Hembree of Dickenson Run and Isaac Hall of Leesburg, No. 3.

WHEAT CROP FAILURE

Conditions Do Not Look Good Geo W. Humberton Says

George W. Humberton who has been traveling about over Fayette and adjacent parts of West Virginia selling horses, cattle and country powers, reports that in wheat crop will be practically a failure while the outlook for a good hay crop never was better.

Indications now point to a good fruit crop. Mr. Humberton says he never saw the country looks in a worse condition at his season of the year.

Coroner Hagan's List

Coroner Arthur S. Hagan has filed a number of inquests on bodies of persons who met violent deaths within the county since his other report was filed. The last time he made up a most or nearly of inquests who met death either in the railroad or the mines.

One or two men may shortly be committed.

REMODELLING COUNTY HOME

Bids for It Now Being Advertised by Post Director

Thomas H. Ryan, A. D. Moss and Elijah Crossland, the Board of Poor House Directors, are again advertising bids for the remodeling of the County Home according to plans and specifications drawn up by Architect Andrew J. Cooper of this place. The interior of the building is to be entirely renovated and beautified and put in a more sanitary condition. A considerable amount of money is to be judiciously spent during the summer and before another winter. It is thought that the Fayette County Home will be one of the best equipped buildings of the kind in this State. The directors had intended to let the contract for the repair work at their meeting last week but the bids were not satisfactory in every detail and it was decided to again advertise. The bids will be received until 10 o'clock on June 15 when the contract is to be awarded.

The James A. Shumard Post of the Grand Army of the Republic held Memorial services here in the Baptist Church Sunday, 29th inst., under the direction of Commander Evans Rush. The post was organized with about 45 members. Year by year its ranks have been thinned until now there are number 11. One of their number having answered the last roll call in this year just past. They were Capt. Andrew Stewart, A. R. Boyd and Samuel Hall. Appropriate and very impressive remarks and resolutions were read; a memoir of those departed comrades by Francis Morrison, E. M. Canning gave some statistics with well timed remarks after which he introduced Rev. L. S. Colborn a former resident of this county but now of Ohio who preached the sermon to the post his subject being the 300 picked men of Gideon's army. The music was furnished by the choir of the Baptist Church assisted by the Ohiopyle Chorus who made a quartette which is composed of Messrs. A. F. D. J. and S. F. Potter and Prof. R. V. Ridderup. The songs rendered by the quartette were specially appropriate. The music altogether was an enjoyable feature of the services. Among those who attended from a distance were W. D. Colborn and Allen Hyatt of Connellsville, W. S. Colborn, W. H. Dull and wife of Mill Run, W. M. Field, S. Tannehill of Brad dock.

CONFLUENCE

Interesting Items from Somerset County's Hustling Town

Confluence June 2—Rev. T. S. Poole and family returned home on Wednesday evening, having been absent a couple of weeks visiting at the home of Mrs. Poole's parents at Stayesboro. Mr. Poole's health has not suffered a nervous break down resulting from over work and over study. He had a severe attack of gout in February which left him in a weakened condition for the start of the arduous travel services at Johnson Chapel. This brought back an old nervous trouble from which he suffered previously and resulted in his present condition. The physicians prescribe rest.

A case of smallpox is reported at Hustonstown.

H. B. Tissuo says if he had a scythe he would mow down the young elders that are making a rapid growth in one corner of our beautiful park.

The James A. Shumard Post of the Grand Army of the Republic held Memorial services here in the Baptist Church Sunday, 29th inst., under the direction of Commander Evans Rush. The post was organized with about 45 members. Year by year its ranks have been thinned until now there are number 11. One of their number having answered the last roll call in this year just past. They were Capt. Andrew Stewart, A. R. Boyd and Samuel Hall. Appropriate and very impressive remarks and resolutions were read; a memoir of those departed comrades by Francis Morrison, E. M. Canning gave some statistics with well timed remarks after which he introduced Rev. L. S. Colborn a former resident of this county but now of Ohio who preached the sermon to the post his subject being the 300 picked men of Gideon's army. The music was furnished by the choir of the Baptist Church assisted by the Ohiopyle Chorus who made a quartette which is composed of Messrs. A. F. D. J. and S. F. Potter and Prof. R. V. Ridderup. The songs rendered by the quartette were specially appropriate. The music altogether was an enjoyable feature of the services. Among those who attended from a distance were W. D. Colborn and Allen Hyatt of Connellsville, W. S. Colborn, W. H. Dull and wife of Mill Run, W. M. Field, S. Tannehill of Brad dock.

Don't forget the box social to morrow night. Help the base ball club along.

Park McMullen was a business caller in town yesterday.

Why don't the borough authorities take heed to good advice and have the numerous boardwalks which are in bad shape repaired? Especially attention should be paid this summer as they are a menace to life and limb.

Several train loads of coal passed through town yesterday going east.

Tomorrow night a very pretty store about our charming little village will add to the column. Don't fail to read it. It will be well worth your while.

SENSIBLE FAD.

Fashion again dictates that Russet shoes shall be worn and the popularity they have again attained is justly deserved, for no shoe can compare with them in comfort and coolness. The demand this season for them is surpassing all previous records, in fact we consider ourselves very lucky in being able to show you such a complete line, but it is all due to our early buying that we are able to do it.

Men's Russet Oxfords at $3.50.

These are also hand sewed, blucher cut, low shoe in a pretty shade of Russet and will compare very favorably with many $4 and $4.50 shoes you see.

Women's Tan Oxfords

(Lace and Button)

$2.00 and $2.50.

These we have in a great variety of styles, lace and button, plain or cap toe, and in every style of last; all sizes, all widths.

The Region About Dunbar Since Slack Times Have Developed—Invitations Out for a Wedding

Dunbar June 3—Road Supervisor George M. Schilder and Jeremiah Richman came up yesterday and in company with Supervisor of Roads of Dunbar Township No. 4 went over the mountain roads and inspected them. They report the roads in very good order. There are 30 men at work on the road at this time at various places throughout the mountain district.

Miss Margaret Rittenour of Uniontown was the guest of Miss Grier this evening.

D. H. Costello is a Greensburgite the guest of friends and relatives.

The W. J. Rainey Coal Company closed down their Mt. Braddock plant yesterday consisting of 500 men. The closing down of the plant will put over 500 men out of employment which will make times very dull indeed at Mt. Braddock. The merchants here will feel the effect of the shut down as many people from home are here.

H. T. Rover a resident of Greenburg was a visitor in Dunbar Thursday.

The merchants are reserving their fireworks to the Fourth of July and from all appearances they expect to dispose of a large amount of them.

Since there is a notable exodus of the foreign element some are bound for New York where they will go for home while a large number are going to Garretts and Houserville.

Contractor Bernard O'Connor was in Dunbar a few hours yesterday. Herman Earhart was a passenger on Unionton Thursday afternoon.

ENJOYABLE FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes Surprised by Friends Last Week

Norfolk June 1.—People here are still talking about the most enjoyable surprise of the season—what was given Wednesday evening May 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes. There was quite an gathering of young and old at the party. A luncheon was set out at 11 o'clock and the meeting ended up with dancing. Arthur Fletcher and Miss Sarah Hughes, who are always in the usual good grace of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have left for their home in Brownsville and their going is a source of universal regret here.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. Shlykoverger, Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Burke, Mr. and Mrs. John Ritner, Mr. and Mrs. George DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Miller and Mr. David Loring.

Teachers' Salary Act

On June 1 the teachers' salary was passed by the last legislature and placing the minimum salary to be paid to a teacher at $5 a month went into effect.

By this act 800 teachers of the state in entire of their women will receive about $7,000 as additional remuneration of their services. In order to obtain a share of the additional appropriation to provide for the payment of the increased salaries the president and secretary of each school district must submit a report to the superintendent of public instruction with the information that the requirements of the law have been complied with. Such a report is not made by the school districts in question until the first of the month.

DISCOVER NEWSPAPERS

In the Litigation Over the Estate of the Late Abigail Lawrence.

CASE ARGUED AT JOHNSTOWN

This Week Before Judge O'Connor, Both Judges of Fayette County Having at Times Been Counsel for Parties Interested.

Uniontown, June 3.—[Special]—Attorneys Edward Campbell, W. J. Johnson and possibly one or two other interested will leave for Johnstown, Friday morning, to argue the long-drawn-out litigation of the Abigail Lawrence estate before Judge Francis J. O'Connor. Mrs. Lawrence died a few years ago at her home in German township, leaving a rather valuable estate. Shortly after her death a paper made in 1888 and purporting to be her last will and testament was offered to probate and admitted. The executors therein named were her sons, Samuel D. Newcomer and James M. Newcomer. Some time after the first paper was probated another was presented which also purported to be the last will of Mrs. Lawrence. The husband of the deceased, L. Messmore Lawrence, asked for letters testamentary under this will, but P. A. Johns, who was register at that time, which was in the fall of 1900, refused to admit the paper to probate on the ground that another from the same person was then on record.

Some of the papers, which passed through court, were mysteriously lost before reaching the office of the register. One of these was a petition presented in the fall of 1903, concerning the appeal from the decision of the register in not allowing the will to be probated. October 1, 1903, the court made a decree allowing an appeal from the decision of the register in refusing to allow the second will to be probated. It was also directed that a citation be issued directed to Samuel D. Newcomer and James M. Newcomer, as well as all others interested to show cause why the decision of the register should not be set aside. Exceptions were at once taken to this order of the court. A citation was also later issued to show cause why the decision of the register of November 10, 1900, should not be set aside and the letters testamentary granted to the Newcomers revoked. Exceptions were also taken to this. The paper claimed to be the last will was made June 28, 1908.

There are several separate civil suits growing out of a settlement of the same estate which were started in the lifetime of Mrs. Lawrence and in which she is the plaintiff. The different defendants are her children, Basil S. Newcomer, Samuel D. Newcomer, Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll and Mrs. Nancy J. Trader. The attorneys for Mr. Lawrence claim each of the defendants owe the estate anywhere from $700 to $3,000, while the latter contend they owe nothing. Between these cases and the dispute over the wills there have been several hearings held. Both Judges Reppert and Umbehl have at times been counsel for some of the parties interested and are therefore ruled out and it is necessary to get a foreign judge to hear the matter. Judge O'Connor came here two months ago for that purpose, but some of the parties were not ready to proceed and it was decided to go to Johnstown tomorrow.

The counsel for Messmore Lawrence were somewhat chagrined Wednesday afternoon when they learned that dis continuances in all the four civil suits had been filed in the office of the attorney. They all are now written out and are dated March 17, 1909, and bear a scrawled signature almost illegible, but purporting to be that of Mrs. Lawrence. The papers are all practically similar and are in effect that the plaintiff, for and in consideration of the amounts paid, remit all for which the suit was brought to recover. In the same papers Mrs. Lawrence says that the suits against the defendants were brought without her personal knowledge or consent and she therefore directs that they be discontinued forthwith. This litigation has been very much out of the ordinary and has attracted considerable attention from the legal fraternity as well as from others.

Through their attorney, E. D. Brown, the S. Davis & Company, a jewelry firm of Pittsburgh, has brought suit for $15,111 against August Kerner of Connellsville. The hearing will be before Justice J. N. Dawson.

CHAPTER XIII

SHIP days out from the capes of Delaware bay and the Run Halloway and Boston about 100 leagues east of Cape Sable. If there be truth in the maxim that a ship is never fit for action and she has been a week at sea the hanger might be considered as ready for any emergency now. The crew had roughly learned their stations and the officers had become acquainted with each other the possibilities of the ship so far as weather and on various points of sailing had been ascertained. The small arms were daily and the regular target practice with great guns and the exercises with small arms had materially developed the offensive and defensive powers of the ship.

The already warm friendship between Seymour and Talbot now throbbed into close association by the necessary confinement of a small ship had grown into an intimacy and they held many discussions concerning their absent friends in the long hours of the night watches. Talbot had learned through common rumor before they sailed that Colonel Wilton would probably be sent to England with Lord Dunmore whose retirement under the vigorous policy pursued by the Virginians under the leadership of Patrick Henry who had been elected governor was inevitable and he did not doubt that Katharine would accompany her father. He had never told Seymour of the plans which had involved the destinies of Katherine and himself and something had restrained him from mentioning either his hopes or his affection for her, though time and absence had but intensifying his passion and it was the coming trials that did so.

This reserve was matched by a similar reticence on the part of Seymour who had said nothing of the note he had received and had not communicated the news of his own successful suit to his unsuspecting sister. Seymour had a much clearer apprehension of the situation than Talbot and intrenched in Katherine's confessional confide in it without disquiet magnanimously saying nothing which could distract his less favored rival.

The situation however was clearly an impossible one and that there would be a sudden break in the friend ship when Talbot found out the true state of affairs. He did not doubt Talbot was a quiet man but he really liked the young man and would gladly have spared his friend any pain if it were possible. However since there was only one Kath in the world and she was his he saw no way out of the difficulty and could only allow Talbot to drift along blindly in his foolish paradise until his eyes were opened. Both the young men were favorites with Captain Jones and he treated them in a very different manner from that he usually assumed to his second mates for Jones was rather than to be respected and feared rather than loved.

Little that afternoon the ship being under full sail set on the port tack heading due west. The voice of the lookout on the main royal yard floated down to the deck in that hall which is always thriling at sea and was now dole so in this instance.

Sail ho
Motivating to the officer of the deck Jones himself replied in his powerful voice

Whole away
Broad off the lee beam sir
Can you make her out
No, sir, not yet

We'll keep our eye lifting my man and sing out when you do Mr. Simpson be sure to turn to the other side of the deck let her go off i cou ple of points

He set up with the helmsman round in the weather braces his ticks and shorts

The speed of the ship going free was materially increased it once at a few moments the violent wind more held the deck

I can make her out now sir

What is it?

A ship sir—she is smooth one with her and a third I can't tell what she is sir the first one looks like a huge ship

Mr. Willingford take the glass and go up the crossroads and see what you make of that sir said the captain

Very good sir replied the lieutenant ant springing into the main rigging and rapidly ascending to the crossroads glass in hand

Citizens we will have a nearer look at these boats confirmed the captain glancing back at the others who had all come up from below while the men equally interested were crowding on the forecastle and gazing eagerly in the direction of the reported ships which were not yet visible from the deck

Look back there
Are ye sir? What is it?

I can make out five ships and two brigs and a schooner and some other sail just rising all close hauled on the port tack I think there are more of them, sir but I can't say yet. We are rapidly drawing on them and shall be able to make them out in a minute I think it is a convoy or a fleet

What will do Mr. Wallingford Lay down on deck sir Give the glass to the man on the royal yard though be fore you come Who's he?

It is me sir—Jack Thompson

Keep a bright lookout then Thompson and if you've an enemy's fleet or a convoy it means a glass of grog and a guinea for you when your watch is over

"Bankee sir" cried the debilitated reman

Mr. Wallingford could you make anything out of the size of the ships?

One of them I should say was a large ship a frigate or ship of the line possibly The others were too far off

The men however appreciated the hazardous nature of this advance upon the unexpected and never protected two heavy vessels of war which it was probably unlikely to meet them the own ship fit to very advantage in boldness to which the man who had entered the on board snuffed the dirk in awe

Most of them had snuffed to the most in anticipation of the coming conflict for they it could tell if the fleet would not rise up without a battle and burn him at your elbow I said

CHAPTER XIV
THE Ranger a new and swift sail ship and a fast decked top-sail ship had done up on the wind. The time it was made I was ever ready to do the same. The other ships were all safe sailing out in long in fact not suspecting the existence of a real sailing enemy in those waters.

There are not so many of the enemy's ships together in these waters if we are correctly informed I suspect it must a lot of merchantmen and transports convoyed to the three men of war. John is your opportunity a gentleman he continued his eyes sparkling with delight These apparently leading in for Halifax and probably the Welshman our transport will be among them. We will then let them pass by without a word if they were a fleet of two decks.

At present this relatives brawled in sight of the ships coming on of the men who had heard of the English speech and three cheers which were given with all.

Now comes the main part then MC Seymour and heave to.

In a few moments the splash of our broadside and a small boat drew near of the darkness of the starboard gangway of the Ranger. A man stood up in the stern sheets and waving the mast at the helm. I am the captain of the ship on deck.

At Sir James' command I took the trumpet to the end of all hands we must dress for the ball and our best dress for the present will be that of a merchantman. I don't suppose that the English thought that we have ship about in these waters and possibly they will see us against this and make the best of us.
